Introduction

Improving the spiritual life of our society is directly related to the issue of raising young people as harmoniously developed people. A new, attractive other world appears in front of the student who takes the first step into school. At school, the child gets acquainted with the news of the miraculous world, enriches his feelings about life, nurtures the will and character, learns to communicate with peers, adults. As the teacher looks at the child who has just stepped on the threshold, he realizes that he needs to pay special attention, love, and a way to his heart, and during his professional career he strengthens the mental abilities, will and character of students.

From the above considerations, it is clear that improving the professional skills of modern primary school teachers is more important than ever. Therefore, modern teachers with in-depth knowledge are considered an important factor in our development. In particular, the primary school teachers of our schools must have knowledge that meets modern requirements, and for this, teachers must continue to improve their skills and abilities. That is why today in the Republic of Uzbekistan there are serious requirements for the professional skills of primary school teachers. As a proof of this, let us pay attention to the following words of the first President IA Karimov: It must meet the requirements and have such great qualities. ”

Based on the above considerations, we believe that today's modern primary school teacher needs to combine the following in order to improve his / her professional skills: modern primary school teacher should have special knowledge in pedagogical and psychological and various sciences must be prepared, possess professional and personal qualities.

In addition, in our opinion, the following should be required of a primary school teacher today, namely:

- The teacher can be in the hearts of students and love them, connect their love and feelings with the inner world of students;
- have a deep understanding of the changes taking place in the social life of society, the essence of the ongoing socio-economic reforms and be able to provide students with sound information in this regard;
- be aware of the latest achievements in world science in their field, as well as innovations and achievements in science, technology and information and communication technologies, ie be able to apply advanced pedagogical practices in their work;
- in addition to the knowledge of his specialty, to establish good interdisciplinary communication and to conduct continuous research on it;
- be able to effectively use the most effective forms, methods and tools of education in the process of pedagogical activity;
- High pedagogical skills, pedagogical ability, pedagogical technique, pedagogical culture, culture of behavior, culture of speech and culture of dress;
- be able to reasonably, calmly, correctly assess any pedagogical situation and rationally eliminate conflicts that arise in the educational process;
- be able to take a creative approach to their profession;
- constantly improve their knowledge and professional skills.

Prospective primary school teachers should be able to organize the educational process, as well as the skills of organizing organizational work. They are manifested in the following:

- organization of spirituality days;

- Development of action plans for spiritual education;
- manage the work of the class team on the school plot;
- organization of beautification works;
- be able to decorate the classroom with modern equipment;
- be able to regularly monitor cleanliness;
- be able to organize trips with students;
- be able to organize celebrations in the classroom and at school on the eve of national holidays.

Since the knowledge acquired in the primary school is the foundation for the next stage of education, a great responsibility is placed on the primary school teachers. Modern technology is an effective tool in getting them interested in the lesson quickly and easily. Teaching using modern technologies is an important factor in the active participation of students during the lessons. From this point of view, one of the most important issues of modern primary education is the effective use of modern technical means by primary school teachers. After all, education is a continuous process that develops in line with the times. All the necessary conditions for teachers and coaches have been created for this. Almost all secondary schools in the country are equipped with modern computer equipment, multimedia and other equipment, the necessary conditions are created for each teacher to connect to the Internet through the information and educational portal "ZiyoNet", search for the necessary information, process it and apply it effectively. .

In general, the requirements for a modern primary school teacher are increasing day by day, and the task of correctly and wisely fulfilling these requirements depends on the professional skills of each teacher.

Hence, the primary goal is to achieve the goal required by the state and society in primary education, which is the first step in the formation of the student, the professional skills of the primary school teacher, including the development of self, pedagogical skills and competencies. The rich spiritual and moral image of a modern primary school teacher, the radical changes taking place in society, the strong impact of various information flows on the spiritual and social life of the Republic, the need to eliminate the onslaught of destructive ideas place serious demands on the personality and profession of teachers. . Therefore, today's teacher must have not only professional qualifications, but also high spiritual and moral qualities, rich worldview, intellectual potential, independent thinking. These qualities directly represent the professional maturity of the teacher.
